

Charlotte Mecklenburg Community Foundation Awards More Than $500,000 to 25 Local Nonprofits for Projects Serving Children, Youth and Young Adults

CHARLOTTE, N.C. – The Charlotte Mecklenburg Community Foundation – a regional affiliate and grantmaking arm of Foundation For The Carolinas – recently granted $518,500 to 25 local nonprofits for projects that focus on children, youth and young adults.

Grants from this cycle include, among others: $25,000 to Young Black Leadership Alliance to provide college and career advising for local underserved students; $11,500 to Circle de Luz for a college-readiness mentoring program for first-generation students; and $25,000 to Foundation for Girls to provide career training for 300 single homeless mothers.

“As we recover from the many lingering effects of the COVID-19 pandemic, investing in our children and the family members who care for them should be a top priority,” said Brian Collier, Executive Vice President, Foundation For The Carolinas. “From fostering social capital to providing educational opportunities to preparing youth for future employment – these grants run the gamut. But what they have in common is expanding opportunities to young people who need them the most.”

CMCF’s grantmaking program was established following a \$35 million bequest from Lucille Puette Giles in 1995. To date, the Charlotte Mecklenburg Community Foundation has awarded more than $55 million in grants. Because the fund was established as an unrestricted endowment, it provides a permanent source of grantmaking for community needs as they evolve over time.

The children, youth and young adults grant program aligns with the recommendations of the Leading on Opportunity report, which provides a roadmap for increasing economic mobility in Charlotte-Mecklenburg. Grants include:

- $25,000 to Ada Jenkins Center to provide students in elementary school with access to afterschool academic support and enrichment programming.
